Finding Holiness in the Ordinary: A Month for Gentle Renewal

When the shofar grows silent and the sukkah has come down, the true work of Jewish life begins.

By Rabbi Cantor Russell G. Jayne

Leo & Goldie Sheftel Rabbinical Chair | Norman & Beulah Martin Cantorial Chair

After a month like Tishrei, filled with the awe of Rosh Hashanah, the intensity of Yom Kippur, the joy of Sukkot, and the dancing of Simchat Torah, the month of Heshvan can feel almost...empty. No festivals, no special observances, no great rituals that anchor our days. That is why our sages called this month Marcheshvan (bitter Heshvan) because the joy and drama of the holidays have passed, and ordinary life resumes.

But I think of this time differently. Heshvan is the month that invites us to find holiness in the ordinary.

It reminds us that spirituality is not confined to sanctuaries or sacred days; it lives in the way we greet each other in the morning, the patience we show in traffic, the compassion and help we extend to a friend in need. When the shofar grows silent and the sukkah has come down, the true work of Jewish life begins, transforming the everyday into a dwelling place for the Divine.

In our Torah readings for this month, we will have moved away from the sweeping universality of Creation and will find ourselves anchored in the particular story of Abraham and his journey. God calls to him, "Lech Lecha" (Go forth) into a new land, a new life, a new way of walking with purpose. That is what this quiet month also asks of us, to walk with intention and to carry the inspiration of the High Holy Days into the rhythm of daily life.

And speaking of inspiration, I want to take a moment to offer my heartfelt thanks to everyone who made our High Holy Days so meaningful this year. To all of our volunteers who polished silver, who set up the main sanctuary, who ushered and greeted, who leyned Haftarot, who davened sections of the service, and who supported our youth programming, thank you! Your dedication and generosity embody exactly what the month of Marcheshvan is all about, bringing holiness into ordinary acts of service.

May this quieter month be for us a time of rest, reflection, and gentle renewal. A chance to rediscover that the sacred is never far away. It is in the simple blessings of community, kindness, and care that we will continue to strengthen our synagogue and sanctify our days.

Celebrating Together, Under One Roof

Our building tells the story of our people—not only through our services and rituals, but through the voices, footsteps, and milestones that fill its halls.

By Jennifer Girvitz

Executive Director, Beth Tzedec Congregation

Before stepping into my role as Executive Director, one of my key responsibilities at Beth Tzedec was managing rentals and community events. In that role, I had the privilege of witnessing firsthand the incredible ways our building comes alive when our members gather to celebrate life's most meaningful moments. Whether it's a wedding beneath a chuppah in our sanctuary, a Bar or Bat Mitzvah celebration in the Social Hall, or a baby naming surrounded by family and friends, I saw how our synagogue serves as both a spiritual and communal home—a place where joy and sacred tradition come together.

There is something profoundly moving about celebrating a simcha within the same walls where we pray, learn, and reflect as a congregation throughout the year. The same sanctuary that holds us in solemn moments on the High Holidays also embraces us in moments of laughter, music, and dance. Our building tells the story of our people—not only through our services and rituals, but through the voices, footsteps, and milestones that fill its halls. Each celebration leaves an imprint, deepening the sense of connection that binds us together as a community.

At the same time, we know that for our building to continue being this warm, welcoming space, it must also be functional and comfortable for everyone who gathers here. During the High Holidays, many of you shared your feedback about one recurring challenge: the state of our aging HVAC system. It's no secret that our heating and cooling units have struggled to keep up, and replacing them has become one of the most urgent priorities of our Capital Campaign. Comfort may seem like a small thing, but anyone who has sat through a long service or simcha in a too-warm or too-cold room knows how much it matters. Our physical space should support the sacred moments that happen within it—not distract from them.

That is why our ongoing Capital Campaign is so vital. The planned improvements to our HVAC system, along with the renewal of our social hall, sanctuary, chapel, entranceway, and other key areas, will ensure that Beth Tzedec remains a space where joy and holiness can flourish side by side. These renovations will allow us to celebrate together under one roof that is not only beautiful and meaningful, but also comfortable, accessible, and sustainable for years to come.

When you choose to host your simchas at Beth Tzedec, you are doing more than marking a milestone—you are investing in the continued strength of our community. Each event supports the care and renewal of our building, helping ensure that future generations will be able to celebrate their own sacred moments in the same warm and welcoming space we cherish today.

Let us continue to celebrate together—joyfully, meaningfully, and under one roof that we all help sustain.

Sharing the Sukkah

This year, we were delighted to welcome the community into our brand-new sukkah, generously supported by Ron & Barbara Krell, Monica Samchek and our dedicated Sukkah Committee.

Our sincere thanks to the staff members who assembled the sukkah, and to everyone who joined us to celebrate Sukkot—especially those who stopped by for Smoothies in the Sukkah and our other holiday programs.

Welcome to the 25th Annual Beth Tzedec Calgary Jewish Film Festival – our milestone 25th year of bringing our community together to explore the richness and diversity of our Jewish world through the magical lens of cinema!

Minyan Moments: November Edition

Points aside, what truly counts is the sense of connection — the laughter, the shared prayers, and the feeling of being part of something bigger than ourselves.

By Susan Inhaber

Commissioner, National Minyan League

As the days continue to grow shorter and the mornings a little chillier, our minyan regulars continue to show up with warmth, ruach, and plenty of smiles. There's something special about praying surrounded by familiar faces — whether you're there in person, on Zoom, or making a heroic dash through the doors just as we reach Ashrei.

The standings have been lively, and the friendly competition keeps everyone on their toes. (Don't let the wide spread between some teams scare you off. You never know what surprises there could be.) Points aside, what truly counts is the sense of connection — the laughter, the shared prayers, and the feeling of being part of something bigger than ourselves.

So, bundle up, grab your tallis or purse (and maybe a friend), and join us in person or on Zoom if that is not possible. You'll earn a few points, maybe a few smiles, and definitely a good feeling in your heart.

See you at services!

Beth Tzedec is proud to take part in the Harold Grinspoon Foundation LIFE & LEGACY program, coordinated locally by Calgary Jewish Federation and the Jewish Community Foundation of Calgary. We are working in partnership with organizations throughout the Calgary Jewish community to raise endowment funds through after-lifetime gifts.

Todah rabah to the following individuals and families who have generously committed to after-lifetime gifts that will support our synagogue in perpetuity:
